In all matters not specified in this Constitution and Bylaws, this organization shall be governed by the latest edition of Robert's Rules of Order, Newly Revised.

XVII Tenure Guidelines for Faculty

In tenure cases, The College is guided in large part by the definitions, policies, and procedures described in the Academic Affairs Manual (ACD 506-04: Tenure). Unit administrators, personnel committees, and tenure candidates are encouraged to consult the Academic Affairs Manual prior to and throughout the tenure review process to develop a clear understanding of the policy and processes. The College is also guided by specific tenure criteria as articulated by each academic unit. Each academic unit shall specify metrics for excellence in the unit's field(s). The College requires evidence of demonstrated excellence in teaching, research, and service as they relate to the unit's and college's current and future missions and goals. The College also requires evidence of promise of continued excellence (i.e., the upward trajectory).

a. Promotion Guidelines for Faculty

In promotion cases, The College is guided in large part by the definitions, policies, and procedures described in the Academic Affairs Manual (ACD 506-05: Faculty Promotion). Unit administrators, personnel committees, and promotion candidates are encouraged to consult the Academic Affairs Manual prior to and throughout the promotion review process in order to develop a clear understanding of the policy and processes. The policy has distinct sections for both tenured and tenure-eligible faculty and for faculty with fixed-term (non-tenure eligible) appointments.

i. Promotion of Tenured/Tenure-Eligible Faculty

In addition to the expectations and requirements within ACD 506-05: Faculty Promotion, The College is guided by specific promotion criteria as articulated by each academic unit. Each academic unit shall specify metrics for excellence in the unit's field(s).

For promotion to Associate Professor, The College requires evidence of demonstrated excellence in teaching, research, and service as it relates to the unit's and college's current and future missions and goals. The College also requires evidence of the promise of continued excellence (i.e., the upward trajectory). Consistent with university policy, candidates for promotion to Associate Professor must be evaluated for tenure no later than the date indicated in the original offer letter or date amended by an authorized probationary period extension.

For promotion to Professor, The College requires evidence of demonstrated and sustained excellence at national and international levels relative to the unit's and college's current and future missions and goals. There is no prescribed timeline for promotion from Associate Professor to Professor. Typically, such a record is achieved after several years at the Associate level.

ii. Promotion for Fixed-Term Faculty

In addition to the expectations and requirements within ACD 506-05: Faculty Promotion, The College is guided by specific promotion criteria as articulated by each unit. Due to the differences in types of work performed by faculty with fixed-term appointments, academic units shall clearly define the criteria for promotion to each rank.

While guided in large part by unit and university criteria, The College also requires evidence of a demonstrated and sustained record of excellence for all fixed-term faculty members seeking promotion. Demonstrated excellence shall exceed the criteria for the candidate's current rank. Evidence of exceeding criteria may include a record of demonstrated accomplishment and sustained successful innovation in teaching, research, or service, or a record of demonstrated accomplishment and sustained successful leadership in program or curriculum development beyond current job expectations.

The College expects that candidates for promotion to Associate rank for professors of practice, clinical faculty, and research faculty, as well as candidates for promotion to Senior Lecturer, typically have a minimum of five years of experience at rank. The College expects that candidates for promotion to Professor for professors of practice, clinical faculty, and research faculty, as well as candidates for promotion to Principal Lecturer, will typically have a minimum of seven years of college-level teaching or research experience.

b. Promotions Guidelines for Academic Professionals

In considering promotion cases, The College is guided in large part by the definitions, policies, and procedures described in the Academic Affairs Manual (ACD 507-07: Academic Professional Promotion). Unit administrators, personnel committees, and promotion candidates are encouraged to consult the Academic Affairs Manual (ACD) prior to and throughout the promotion review process in order to develop a clear understanding of the policy and processes.

In addition to the expectations and requirements within ACD 507-07: Academic Professional Promotion, The College is guided by specific promotion criteria as articulated by the unit.

The unit shall specify metrics for excellence in the unit's program(s).

While guided in large part by unit and university criteria, The College requires evidence of a demonstrated and sustained record of excellence for all academic professionals seeking promotion. Demonstrated excellence must exceed the criteria for the candidate's current rank. Evidence of exceeding criteria might include: a record of demonstrated accomplishment and sustained successful innovation in teaching, research, or service; demonstrated accomplishment and successful leadership in program or curriculum development beyond current job expectations.

The College expects that candidates for promotion to Associate rank will typically have a minimum of five years of experience at rank. The College expects that candidates for promotion to Full/Senior rank will typically have a minimum of seven years of college-level experience.

XVII Proposed Amendments to the Bylaws

- a. Proposals for Amendments to the Bylaws must be presented by motion for a first reading to the College Senate. A second reading shall be made at a subsequent meeting of the College Senate. This provision is not subject to a motion to suspend the rules. Between the meetings of the College Senate, the senators are to convey the proposed amendments to their respective units and obtain advice from the members of the College Assembly in those units.
- b. Amendments to the Bylaws require a majority of those College Senate members present and voting.
- c. The College Senate shall review the bylaws at least once every 3 years and shall initiate proposals for amendments as appropriate.
